tug.

A suit involving the valuable riparian rights of property owners on the northern river front of Portsmouth, which has been pending for seventeen years, was settled to-day. The suit was that of E. V. White and other owners of Swimming Point property, against the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad.

CHURCH IN FLAMES.

The First Lutheran Church of Norfolk

The First Lutheran Church of Norfolk burst into flames last night just after the close of the service. The congregation had scarcely left the building when the fire was discovered. All the old portion of the church was burned, but the handsome new granite front is unstathed. Five thousand dollars will probably cover the loss. There is some $2,400 insurance. The polley expired last week, but it contains a saving clause continuing until the 20th.

Another officer will be sent to Greensboro, N. C., to attempt to identify the negro suppce to be John Allen, the murderer of Ada Smith, whose throat was cut on the streets of Norfolk. The prisoner is still held by the Carolinians, in the hope that a second attempt to identify him may be successful and give them the $150 reward offered.

The names of the judges who will serve at the polls to-morrow were not given out by the Electoral Board until this afternoon. The straightouts were given one judge at each precinct.

LYNCHBURG, VA., Ootober 3L.—Between 2 and 3 o'clock this morning burglars entered the office of the Standard Oil Company, and with dynamite blew open the safe. They were probably driven away by a fire that had been started by the explosion, and did not get a cent.

The hire was first discovered by Mr. B. B. Pulliam, watchman at the Plow Works. The blaze was rapidly spreading towards the enormous oil and gasoline tanks in the rear of the yard, and but for the prompt and strenuous work of the firemen they would certainly have been reached by the flames. While the firemen were at work they could hear the kerosene oil boiling in one of the tanks, but it did not explode, and within twenty minutes they had the fire under complete certains.
